

BOULDER, Colo.-- Feb. 10, 2008

"We're proud to once again exhibit at the Nation Real Estate CyberConvention and Exhibition and offer free marketing tools and immediate discounts to our valued clients," said Roman Mica, president of eMailaCard.com. "Real Estate professionals have been in the forefront of using the Internet to generate leads and maintain their connections with their clients." he said. "These professionals are role models for other small business owners and operators seeking more cost-effective marketing and communications tools."

eMailaCard.com has pioneered the use of Internet marketing tools for small business owners, including electronic greeting cards, newsletters, brochures, and stationery. The company was one of the first to promote and use electronic greeting cards specifically for business uses with such innovative online tools as cards linked to online surveys, event registrations, and promotional discounts.

"Our 10-year record of Internet business success proves that the electronic commerce is alive and well," Mica said. "You can definitely make money on the Internet if you provide a valuable service and back it up with excellent customer service," he added.

eMailaCard.com also offers a full range of innovative marketing tools designed to help generate business and create valuable Internet leads. eMailaCard.com allows users to add a photograph and company logo to each card; add a hyperlink from the card to the user's Web site; and generate Internet leads with branded eCard web sites. The annual membership offers a card blaster program that can deliver one card to one thousand recipients with one click. In addition, the company offers branded eCard web sites, which are completely branded so that they seamlessly incorporate into their client's business website.

eMailaCard.com has pioneered the use of electronic marketing for small business owners. It is a public and member service with over 3000 users in over a dozen countries. For more information regarding eMailaCard.com please visit <http://www.eMailaCard.com> or call 303-415-2586 or email info@eMailaCard.com.