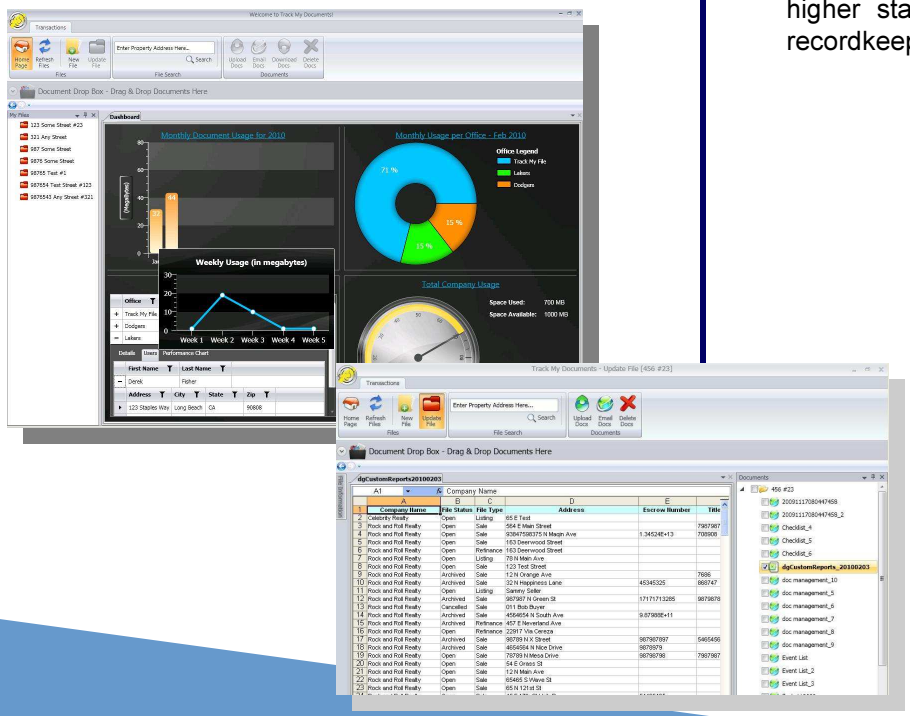
TrackMyDocuments

Online Document Management

TrackMyDocuments now allows businesses to share documents and collaborate over the internet. The eFile cabinet provides a secure, internet based storage facility to upload, download, browse, search, index and store documents. Companies seeking to cut costs as well as tighten recordkeeping benefit from the online model that delivers an always-on availability, without the hardware, software or maintenance costs associated with an in-house server installation.

The ability to revise, store and retrieve documents while sharing or distributing to others who need the information instantly reduces costs and increases productivity. Anyone with the appropriate access rights can locate the information they need within seconds. The resulting savings and benefits are better for business and immediate.



We are pleased to announce that we have added a NEW document management application ... TrackMyDocuments to our suite of services. TMD It is a Windows Applet for companies that have several locations or those who need access to document files in the field. Your digital documents are available online using our safe & secure application. Think of it as a eFile cabinet that you can access from any computer anywhere with internet access. Our files and servers are encrypted for safety so only assigned users have access to view or upload files. With a powerful document management system to capture, manage, and share digital documents you automatically improve the bottom-line with increased efficiency and collaboration and reduce risk by meeting higher standards of compliance and recordkeeping continuity.
